THE CITY.

— See "Bridge Notice" for bids to build a bridge at Hannaford's.
 — Thanks to Stevenson & Cross for a very large, fine water melon duly delivered.
 — From observation of market reports the price of wheat seems to tend downward everywhere.
 — The St. Joseph Industrial Exposition will commence next Monday and continue all the week.
 — Our city fathers have had a substantial crossing made on Atlantic Street, west side of First.
 — We hear of nothing in regard to the Independent ticket but dissatisfaction. Everybody says "an easy ticket to beat."
 — Andrew Seltzer, a German, and Tobias Mitchell, a colored man, residents of Omaha, recently got into a fight about a cow, when the German shot the negro dead with a shot-gun.
 — Received, constitution, by-laws, regulations and list of premiums for the "First Annual Exhibition of the First District Fair of Nebraska," to be held at Lincoln September 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26, 1874.
 — The largest water melon we have seen this season, and about as large as we ever saw at any time, was on exhibition a few days ago by Mr. Wm. Russell of this city, and was grown on his farm in this vicinity. It weighed 53 pounds. Who can beat it? Thanks to Mr. Russell for the melon donated to the ADVERTISER.
 — The second annual session of the Southern Baptist Association will be held at the Prairie Union Baptist Church, in Richardson county, commencing September 15th. The church is five miles west of Aspinwall, or one mile west of the road from Brownville to Falls City. Will the papers of Johnson, Pawnee and Richardson counties please copy.
 — A man from the devastated regions of northwestern Kansas, with his wife and seven hungry children, draws by a pair of lean horses hitched to an old wagon, stopped his heartily all the other day in front of B. H. Hoover's store, and went in and bought one pound of bacon. When he had paid for it he said, "that's the last cent I have in the world." People can draw their own conclusions in regard to the facilities for living in many localities of the West.
 — Mr. Robert Teare informs us that the young grasshoppers are now hatching out, and that he has caught a lot of them and bottled them up to observe their development. If it is actually a fact that the little pests are crawling out of their nests to certain death by the frosts which will soon come, every farmer will rejoice exceedingly with the assurance that their next spring's crops will not be destroyed by grasshoppers, and can go ahead with more spirit and a greater faith in the future.
 — Mrs. J. B. Hoover, of Nemaha City, writes us about the raffish conduct of some men in that town one evening last week. While Miss Frances Hoover, B. H. Hoover's daughter, about fifteen years of age, was taking one of her first lessons in equestrianism, these men who were in a wagon, and probably drunk, started up their team, and putting whip to their horses rushed up the street behind the horse of Miss Frances, filling the air with yells and the street with clouds of dust. Coming up with the young lady on horseback they screamed at her to get out of the way or they would run over her. This she tried her best to do, but being unable to guide her horse, could not get out of the way before a wheel of the wagon struck the horse, but being a very gentle animal, and Miss Frances retaining her presence of mind was fortunately not thrown from the saddle. Mr. and Mrs. H., who witnessed the whole proceeding and the imminent danger of their daughter, were filled with terror, but were truly grateful at her lucky termination. We do not know who the pallid men were who would so treat a young lady, or we would give their names to our readers. They certainly ought to be known and remembered. Mrs. H. asks, "Is there not some way to stop such lowlived, unprincipled men from running their horses in town?" We answer that the best way to stop it is for Nemaha to have a good police law rigorously enforced.

— The State Fair will commence at Omaha on the 20th inst.

— The District Fair to be held at Lincoln will open September 22d.

— Ed. Paker has taken editorial charge of the Lone Tree Courier, Merriam county.

— We had some nice rain showers on Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning.

— Charles McPherson and family, of Republican City, have been in town for several days.

— T. L. Schick, Esq. in company with Mr. George Berkley went out to Tecumseh on Tuesday of this week.

— Jack McFall started last Monday for a visit at Troy and other places in Ohio. He will be absent for several weeks.

— Levi Johnson, of Nemaha City, dropped in to see us a moment last Tuesday. He was on his road to the State Convention.

— Samuel Smith, residing near Omaha, recently ran a rusty nail into his foot, from effects of which he took lockjaw and died within a few days.

— Last Thursday night Nemaha City had the nicest kind of a dance, and Mat Alderman played the fiddle. If there is one thing we like better than another it is a left-handed fiddler.

— The Blade says that a Lincoln counter-jumper told his landlord he would not eat at the same table with a butcher, whereupon the butcher pitched into the clerk and gave him a thrashing.

— Friend Polock says in the Lincoln Blade, that "Sedgwick," the Blade's Brownville correspondent, is a coward and a "poor sneek;" otherwise he would not be ashamed of his real name.

— On last Monday the delinquent tax lands, as advertised, were offered for sale in accordance with the order and decree of the court, by the Sheriff, but there being no bidders, no land was sold.

— The Red Cloud Chief says, "Every day we see a large number of people passing through our town who have become discouraged and are leaving the country. On the other hand many are coming in and buying railroad lands or taking claims."

— Other matters so engross our attention and occupy our space that our article embracing a short personal reference to each of the candidates on the Republican ticket is laid over for next week. Meantime let us say that there is not a name on the ticket whose record and standing as a Republican and citizen is not above reproach.

— We made an effort to procure the proceedings of the Farmers' and Laborers' convention for publication this week, but Mr. Andy Skeen, the secretary of the convention, failed to furnish them to us. We went to him and requested him to do so, as many of that party are our readers and patrons; and because the minutes do not appear no blame should attach to us.

— On last Thursday evening the only avowed and public courtesan of the only hawdy house in our city, and her "capper," one Babbutt, were arrested by Marshal Campbell, and taken before Esquire Schick, charged with keeping a house of ill-fame. Babbutt, after a hearing of his case, was released by giving bond in $100 for his appearance before the District court. Lizzie plead not guilty and asked for a change of venue to the court of Judge McComas, which was granted. As it would take considerable time to make out the necessary papers for the transfer of the case, it was put over for next morning and Lizzie was permitted to depart to her usual place of business. But when next morning rolled around, Lizzie was not here. She had inconspicuously got up and turned her back on the city, and nobody was sorry—perhaps. If you get into a scrape and Bill Rogers don't clear you, on due application, it will be a wonder. That's the way he cleared Lizzie Sanford.

— On last Saturday morning in company with Commissioner McKinney, we took a ride out to the county farm to see the new house that has been erected thereon. We found nothing more nor less than a good substantial brick building 40x46 feet, two stories high with a very excellent basement and cellar and vaulted with stone. The brick were put up by Gates & Basfield, and the wood work by J. B. Berger. The work is said, by mechanics, to be done in excellent manner. The house was much more used is small and not fit for any human to live in. It is not too large by any means, but is of that character of public improvement that should always be made, being commodious, durable and plain, without any undue expense, for look and ornamentation as it does, it shows well from the surrounding country. This house will serve for the use intended for many years, and the people being taxed to pay for it would much rather build a good house and be done with it than to have to build in a few years again. That which is worth doing is worth doing well, should be the rule in all public works, buildings, bridges, etc., and those who will see the house on the poor farm will thank the Commissioners for doing so good and permanent a work.

— Tecumseh has organized a glee club.

— Our thanks are due R. V. Muir for some very fine tomatoes.

— A German named Flach, of Stanton county Neb, recently committed suicide by cutting his throat.

— The Nemaha county delegates to the Republican State Convention all left for Lincoln on Tuesday afternoon.

— The grading is finished for a sidewalk on the east side of Second Street from Main street north to R. V. Muir's property.

— We are requested by Prof. Rich to announce that the Brownville High School will be commenced again next Monday, September 7th.

— Nemaha City has no saloon now and the city authorities refuse to grant a license to retail whisky. This increases the whisky trade of Brownville.

— Evan Worthing, receiver of the land office at Bloomington, paid our town a flying visit this week—came in Monday evening and started back to Lincoln next day.

— We thought Fairbrother of the Brownville Advertiser had joined the Sons of Temperance. But we must be mistaken, for he still calls us the Tribune.—Pawnee Republican.

— Johnathan Higgins, candidate for county commissioner on the Independent ticket, came to town on Tuesday. This is his first visit to our city for several months, as he does his principal trading in Nebraska City. Wonder if he came down this way looking for votes? We can tell him they are mighty scarce around here for him.

— Persons living in the vicinity of McCoy's Hog lot, have complained to the Mayor, with just cause we think, of the same. Mrs. August says the foul stench that permeates everything in and about her house, from that pen of hogs nearly drives her from her home, and that they can't sleep at night from the everlasting noise kept up. Stock yards should not be tolerated within any inhabited part of the city, and not even one citizen or family should be imposed upon or oppressed.

— On last Thursday the injunction which Mr. Barrett had placed on the ferry boat of Bally, McKee & Co., and which caused a slight interference with the business of that boat for a few days, was dissolved by Judge Gantt at Nebraska City, after a due examination of the affidavits and papers filed in the matter, and the same old boat, the old stand by, "Mary J. Arnold," which has stood by the interests of this city and county and protected and advanced them in many ways, is running regularly again, all right. The "Mary Arnold" claims that her vocation is legitimate, and will resent every attack upon her virtue.

— The point we wish to make is this:—there are three parties in this county.—Brownville Advertiser.

— The Falls City Journal publishes the above, and then comments falsely about the same. The item was not copied from the ADVERTISER neither is it an extract from any article we ever wrote, or published.—Brownville Advertiser.

— If the editor above quoted will take another squint—when he is sober—at an article in the ADVERTISER of the 6th inst., wherein the editor of this paper is the principal subject, he will find the identical words and sentence above quoted, his bold and unqualified assertion to the contrary notwithstanding. We have the first time yet to attempt to garble and mutilate the article of a contemporary.—Falls City Journal.

— The editor of the Journal is a most impudent perverter of truth and garbler of a contemporary's articles. He unblushingly sticks to his falsehood to expose him by producing the proof. The following from the ADVERTISER of the 6th of August is the paragraph in which occurs the part of sentence garbled—misquoted by the Journal:

—"The laughing-stock of the best men of both parties" are we Col. and. Well if we are, the remark proves you to be the ignorant ass you are, and it is only silly effort you make to discuss any subject. The point we would make on you is this—there are three parties in this county which you well know, but have never learned until now, and it is our duty to instruct you, that the word both cannot be used with equal good sense in reference to three things as it can be to two."

—"We have the first time yet," says the Journal, "to attempt to garble and mutilate the article of a contemporary." Now Col. compare the above italicized part of a sentence with your garbled quotation and you will find that in order to change the sense of the remark, you interpolated the word "wish," and expunged the words "on you." What kind of work is that Col. Stretch? Is it not the smallest kind of garbling? That is another one on you Col., and the means—none of all; and by the way Col. your frequent insinuations that we are not at all times duly sober is "getting old" and leads us to believe that you are either mistaken as to our habits, or that you maliciously intend to slander us. Which ever it may be, we will inform you that we do not use any spirituous liquors in any manner or form. To say "you're drunk" is the last resort of editors of small bore, who cannot successfully cope with an opponent. Now Stretch dare you publish the above entry in your columns without garbling or mutilation? You dare not do it. Unless you do we will hereafter regard you as beneath our notice as a newspaper man.

PERSONALS.

— Mr. J. W. Middleton returned home last Friday from Chicago.

— J. W. Newman, Esq., who was absent several weeks visiting Richmond Ind., returned to this city on Friday last.

— Mr. Bennett, hog dealer of Tippecanoe, Ohio, has been spending a week or two in our city, and has bought quite a lot of stock hogs here, and shipped them to his place at Tippecanoe.

— Last Friday we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. M. V. Easterday, of Tecumseh, in this city. Mr. E. is president of the Board of Agricultural of Johnson county. He says they are bound to have a Fair out there, and a good one; that if there was but little corn raised in the county, they can show the best kind of wheat and all abundance of everything but corn.

— Mr. E. D. Spears, of Tecumseh, came into the city last Thursday with a lot of horses, which he had for sale or trade. He went on into Missouri on Friday. Mr. S. is of the firm of Spears & Peabody, who keep at Tecumseh one of the best livery stables in the west.

— Messrs. Oscar Scoville, Frank Henderson, Johnson Henderson, (which is "Tote"), and Wm. Drain, all of Nemaha city, on last Friday night, joined the Sons of Temperance Brownville Division No. 19. Good for the boys.

— Mr. A. H. Gillett, of North Platt formerly a resident of Peru, favored us with a call last Saturday.

— Phil. Deuser, of the firm of Deuser & Bros. hardware merchants of Rockport, Mo., spent a day or two with his friends in Brownville last week.

— In company with Jno. B. McCabe and behind his spanking pair of ponies, we visited Grand Prairie school house last Monday and were present at the Farmers' and Laborers' convention. Grand Prairie is becoming a familiar name to the people of this section of the country from the fact that it is so frequently published as the meeting place of the County Association of Grangers, and the conventions of the new party. Grand Prairie is not a town, there is simply a school house there, and was so named on account of the beautiful country surrounding it as far as the eye can see. It is not a wild monotonous scope of unbroken prairie as some might suppose, not by a good deal, for it is well settled with intelligent farmers and fruit growers. The farms all show thrift and care, and the buildings are better, so far as we observed, than the average farm houses of the country. It is not uncommon to see well constructed two-story plaid buildings, painted clear white, standing in the midst of planted groves, all adding fascinating charms to the natural beauty of the scenery of the wavey and undulating prairie, making it a Grand Prairie in truth.

— All along the road from Brownville to Grand Prairie the country is very inviting, thickly settled and well cultivated, but still there is much splendid land awaiting only the industry and enterprise of the husbandman to yield rich rewards. Now the country displays less of its real worth, agriculturally, than we have ever seen it before; the corn fields being shorn of their fodder making them look ragged, and the fruit trees, apple trees especially, are stripped of their leaves, leaving the apples to ripen without any protecting shade. Notwithstanding the ravages of the grasshoppers and the withering drought and an unprecedented hot summer, we saw some commonly good crops of corn, and none, we think, where there is an entire failure, and take the average crop, there will be sufficient to amply supply the wants of the people.

— The fruit crop is good, but, judging, while the trees are generally loaded with fruit, are not so large as they would have been had there been more rain. Apples, pears and plums are not effected in this respect so much. In passing we noticed the fine fruit of Mr. H. O. Minick especially his pears, which appeared to be of good size and abundant. Mr. Wilkison Sage's apple trees seemed to be nearly breaking under their loads of rich fruit; and Mr. Mahle's ten acres of peaches, right in the center of Grand Prairie, looked so luscious and tempting, that could we have discovered a place of ingress through the splendid locust hedge, we would most certainly have run the risk of bull-dogs and shot-guns in the attempt to appropriate a hat-full of peaches, but with such a hedge, the best we have seen in the State, Mr. Mahle's orchard is safe from intrusion.

— For fair dealing and the lowest figures go to Stevenson & Cross.

— If you want a No. 1 stove for the least pains, call and buy of Tisdell & Richards.

— Seythes and Pitchforks—the best and cheapest by Stevenson & Cross.

— ANNOUNCEMENT.

— I wish to inform all my old friends and the public generally, that having sold out my hotel business to Joseph O. Pitt, I am now devoting my entire attention to the superintending of my livery stable, and feel confident that in the future, as in the past, I can give "general satisfaction."

— BEN. ROGERS.

— Machine oils and belting by Stevenson & Cross.

— Saddles and codfish for sale by Stevenson & Cross.

— Lard Oil, the purest in town, at Nickell's Drug Store.

— The St. Joseph Exposition will commence next Monday. A number of Brownville folks will visit the fair during the week.

— The ticket nominated by the Farmers and Laborers at Grand Prairie last Monday is as follows: State Senator, O. B. Hewitt; Representatives, Church Howe and C. F. Hayden. For County Commissioners, first district, W. M. Stokes; third district, Jonathan Higgins. The names of the gentlemen appointed as delegates to the State Convention we did not get.

— One day this week we dropped into Mr. Lockwood's shop, nearly at the foot of College street. We don't hardly know what kind of a shop to call it, he does so many different kinds of work; but we can tell of some things we saw. In one corner of his shop he has put up a brand new little black water steam engine, which serves many good purposes for a mechanic with the ingenuity that Lockwood has. It runs a turning lathe, and a little circular saw, by which he cuts and forms his wagon timber into the desired shape, and he also turns iron as well as wood.

— In an adjoining room Lockwood has put a small "Premium" mill with wheels and belts attached, and his engine runs that, and he will grind you a sack of horse feed, oats or rye, or a grist of corn, in a very few minutes. Take it altogether we think he has the handiest place we have seen.

— Adjoining this shop he has just built another one intended for a blacksmith, and when Mr. Jack Mercer gets back to Brownville, which will be within a short time, he will take charge of that department, and then they propose to do all the work of any kind that is brought them.

— Mr. L. says his main business will be machine repairing, and those who have any agricultural machinery to repair will know where to take it to be made very nearly as good as new. This is quite an addition to the business of our city, and we hope Mr. Lockwood will be well rewarded with business to compensate him for the large expense he has incurred in starting his shops.

NEW MILLINERY GOODS.

— Mrs. Berkley takes this method of returning her thanks to the ladies of Brownville and Nemaha and adjoining counties for their very liberal custom during the spring and summer seasons just past, and also of inviting their attention to the fact that next week, about Friday, she will commence receiving her stock for the fall trade, which will more than equal in variety of fine and fashionable goods, any of her previous stocks. Those who want splendid fashionable hats, fancy goods, or anything in her line should not fail to call, for she is determined, as her motto is, to suit all in goods and prices. And as a dress-maker her experience and taste qualify her to warrant satisfaction in every case. The preparation of bride's trousseaus Mrs. B. makes a specialty, and would call attention to the wedding trousseau of Mrs. Dolen as the richest and most beautiful robe that ever decorated a bride in this city.

— For fair dealing and the lowest figures go to Stevenson & Cross.

— If you want a No. 1 stove for the least pains, call and buy of Tisdell & Richards.

— Seythes and Pitchforks—the best and cheapest by Stevenson & Cross.

— ANNOUNCEMENT.
